

To the Postal Regulatory Commission:

I am writing to vehemently oppose the Ten-Year Plan proposed by Louis DeJoy. It will further destroy the services of the postal services that hundreds of millions of taxpayers, citizens and non-citizens, residents and businesses have relied upon for many decades. His service as Postmaster General has been terrible, destroying vital equipment before having suitable mechanisms in place, stopping vital services to cut back working hours, removing mail boxes with no explanation or posted option. the list goes on and on. He did all this during a critical time, a pandemic, that fouled up and delayed crucial medicine deliveries, hampered necessary vote-by-mail services and placed hardships on many. His Ten-Year Plan, which I have reviewed, is adding more damage to the US Postal Service for the long and short term.

As commission members you have failed to stop his damage and have failed the American People. You must take action to halt his plan in it's tracks, strongly consider removing him from his post, and make decisions for the public's best interests. I encourage you to also take action to solicit at least partial taxpayer funded support for the service we depend upon. Be reminded that you work for us, not an administration or a political party. If you continue to fail us, we can rise up to get you removed and replaced.

Sincerely,
